Those whom “ we SUPPORT hold us up in life.”

-- Marie Ebner von Eschenbach

There is great strength to be found in community. It upholds the very INTEGRITY of St. Joseph's Area Health Services Foundation in "Helping Our Growing Area Grow Healthier."

Catholic Health Initiatives, our parent organization, plays a supportive role in training and leadership which drives our organization to achieve EXCELLENCE in quality care. They help us to champion our healthcare mission throughout the region and fortify our passion to care for the mind, body, and spirit of others with COMPASSION.

Support for St. Joseph's Area Health services also comes from you. Volunteers, like pillars of devotion and pride, fill a role that would otherwise leave a void in our healthcare network. Generous donations from the community also uphold the values we hold dear. At a time in which St. Joseph's finds itself building for the future, we have witnessed philanthropy from our medical leaders, staff, and community that renders us humble. Words can't adequately describe our gratitude. Everyone benefits because our communities have come together in support of healthcare for its members. Thank you.

In this never ending support cycle, St. Joseph's responds with support in many forms. Education, networking, REVERENCE in helping people live as independently as possible, assisting new moms, and reaching out to the sick are all methods we use as advocates of healthy communities. As you read our 2007 Annual Report, no doubt you will see this circle of support in action. Together we can keep the circle growing.

Oh, indeed, there is great strength in community.

SUPPORT is there when you need us

A tour of J&B Foods in Park Rapids as conducted by a Registered, Licensed Dietitian and Certified Diabetes Educator (Monica Foster, LD, RD, CDE) is an example of hands-on education members of St. Joseph's Area Health Services Diabetes Support Group receive throughout the year. Proper foot care, eye exams, dental health, and counting carbohydrates are among a list of important components people living with diabetes need to face with diligence. Participants learn they must regularly monitor their situation or it can lead to complications. This support group meets monthly and emphasizes to its members the importance of getting exercise, eating right, and testing their blood sugar. A range of topics is covered throughout the year and members hear from experts in the field.

St. Joseph's provides many support group offerings including the diabetes group because education and support can be key in helping others live to their full potential. A diagnosis for diabetes may be no big surprise for some, but can be very traumatic for others. St. Joseph's believes in giving this support so people don't feel alone, learn empowerment through education, and are motivated to make positive changes in their lives. They may even meet a friend.

“ It is not enough to help the feeble up, but to SUPPORT him after.”

-- William Shakespeare

Nancy Christofferson, Home Health Aide, believes it is an honor to do her job every day. In fact it's more than a job to her. As she enters the home of Doug and Delphine Anderson of Park Rapids, she always remembers she is a guest in their home.

“Our goal is to keep people in their home for as long as we can,” she says. Her role is to provide Doug with personal care.

St. Joseph's Area Health Services Home Care is a place where people can turn for a range of services so they can remain comfortable in their own home. Skilled nurses provide assessment, lab work, medication management, dressing changes, wound care, IV therapy and more.

There are Home Health Aides like Nancy who can help with hygiene, exercises, dressing, and foot care. Other services can be arranged as well; physical, occupational, and speech therapy, social work services, education, homemaking, respite care and senior companion services. You may qualify for assistance, so please call 237-5593.

Delphine Anderson says the people who visit them through St. Joseph's Home Care are “thoughtful and dedicated to what they do, they're not just working to be paid.”

Dental hygiene education

St. Joseph's Area Health Services plays a supportive role in dental hygiene through the Community Dental Clinic and a grant received by the Northwest Minnesota Foundation. This year Amy Morris, Dental Clinic Manager, and Dental Clinic staff headed to Nevis School to clue all students in on the A,B,Cs of brushing. Screenings were also provided. Dental education also extends to clinic visits, area community childcare and preschool settings (see photo), and in the WIC program.

Lactation support

Crystal Hillukka wants the very best for her newborn, Abby. That is why she chooses to breastfeed. Hillukka also knows that there is help if she needs it from St. Joseph's Area Health Services. Four Certified Lactation Counselors, including Mari Willie (right), are available whenever mothers like Hillukka have questions or are in search of additional education. Lactation support for women is another reason why St. Joseph's Obstetrics Department took first place, national honors for patient satisfaction in the Catholic Health Initiatives system this year. Other lactation counselors include Janine Brostrom, Bobby Lemke, and Carin Shepersky.

for women, by women

Sometimes how you look can influence how you feel. For women facing the affects of cancer treatment, this holds especially true.

The Look Good, Feel Better program in place at St. Joseph's Area Health Services believes the latest cancer treatments aren't always prescribed by doctors.

Michelle Lundin is one of the volunteer cosmetologists who works with Look Good, Feel Better participants and provides them with custom care. On the first Tuesday of every month at St. Joseph's, participants receive a initial session and complementary make-up care package from industry cosmetic companies.

Volunteers like Michelle help cancer patients address issues they face such as with skin changes and hair loss. Michelle will further give them free one-on-one consultation services based on need. Just being able to make a wig fit, feel comfortable, and look natural (the old days of clumsy, fake looks are done) or teaching participants the art of creating natural-looking eyebrows are rewards enough.

"I get lots of hugs and thank yous," Michelle says. Recipients are grateful there's something like this in place for them. "They are so busy with medical appointments that they don't have time to deal with these other issues." For more on this service call Cynthia at 237-5711.

Ann Marjamaa (standing) and Michelle Lundin are trained Look Good, Feel Better volunteer cosmetologists at Park Avenue Salon and Day Spa located on Park Rapids' Main Avenue.
